A remarkable life

Helen Keller was born in 1880 in a small town in the middle of the United States. It was immediately obvious that she was an intelligent girl because she started speaking at the age of only six months. ¹_____ When she was one and a half, she came down with a mysterious illness that had tragic consequences: she was no longer able to see, hear or speak.

2 _____ Her parents even considered sending her to an institution because they didn't know how to bring her up. However, when Helen was six years old, her mother employed a young woman called Anne Sullivan to teach her. 3 _____ If Anne Sullivan hadn't come into Helen's life, her story would have been very different.

4 _____ Nevertheless, she finally succeeded in teaching her to spell the names of objects with her fingers. When Helen was 10, she also started to speak. However, it took her 25 years to manage to communicate in a way other people could understand. Incredibly, although she couldn't hear, Helen was able to understand what others were saying by touching their lips with her hand. 5 _____

Despite her huge problems, she went to university and graduated with distinction at the age of 24. Helen's amazing story quickly made her a celebrity, first in the United States and then across the world. ⁶ _____ She used it to advance the cause of people suffering from physical disabilities.
